

AFSO21 Views You Can Use....

Our job as America's Airmen is to fly and fight in the air, space and cyberspace, and we're the best in the world at what we do. But we can always improve combat effectiveness, and I believe AFSO21 can help us get there. As you have seen and heard, Airmen everywhere are already implementing the principles of AFSO21 and we are beginning to see some impressive results.

To continue to successfully wage this long, Global War on Terror and be even more ready for the next war, we need everyone, at every level, involved. I challenge you to look at everything you do with a critical eye. Ask yourself, "How and what can we, as Airmen, do better? In a resource constrained environment, how can we continue to improve our readiness and our war fighting capabilities? How can we be even more lethal than we already are?" Then provide your leadership with constructive ideas about how to be more efficient and effective.

Your efforts and expertise are critical to improving our ability to fly and fight for our great nation.

A handwritten signature in dark ink, reading "T. Michael Moseley". The signature is fluid and cursive, with a long horizontal stroke at the beginning.

T. Michael Moseley
General, USAF
18th Chief of Staff